

SLAUGHTER IN STALINGRAD IS UNABATED

Meandering
Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

I notice Captain W. B. (Doc) Hyer is doing something out at his recently acquired Drive-In Restaurant on South Fayette Street, that certainly shows not only his generosity, but his patriotism as well.

He is allowing every man in uniform a 10 percent discount off of his regular bill where the amount is 50 cents or more.

The boys all appreciate it and always express their gratitude . . . after recovering from their surprise. They say that they never have had this courtesy extended them any other place. "Doc" is not doing this for advertising purposes at all, but as many of you know, Doc was a soldier in World War I . . . in fact he was badly wounded in combat service in France while a member of Company M of the Rainbow Division.

He is just another good fellow who is doing his part to help make the soldiers path just a little rosier, and to let them know that the life of a soldier is not so bad after all.

Let's all take a friendly tip from Doc's gesture and do something nice for Our Boys whenever the opportunity presents itself.

Here's one for you hay fever sufferers. . . it's probably so simple you'll laugh at it. . . but it's been tried and proven. . . it's pleasant to take. . . and surely can't do any harm. . . Harry Taylor is the discoverer. . . here it is:

Harry has hay fever every summer. . . has resigned himself to his fate but does try to get a little relief. . . has been dissolving hoarhound candy in his mouth to soothe the irritation in his throat. . . he went into one of the drug stores. . . I believe it was Blackmer & Tanquary's. . . and got a bag full. . . and for some reason he got some peppermint drops. . . he put one in his mouth with no thought of easing the hay fever. . . but lo and behold, a miracle was wrought. . . he tried it again and again. . . it was no fluke. . . the peppermint opened up the irritated nasal passages and soothed his throat. . . he gave them to a fellow victim. . . it worked again. . . now they're both peppermint addicts.

Well there's the story just as it was told to me. . . I won't guarantee the hay fever cure. . . but peppermints are real tasty anyway, aren't they. . .

Sometime ago an airplane was flying in the stratosphere over Washington C. H. and Fayette County, leaving a trail of smoke or vapor from the exhaust.

The plane was so high that it was invisible, and the mysterious trail was watched with interest.

I have just learned that a local boy was in that plane and that it was flying around 34,000 feet over this part of the country, in temperatures so far below zero that the coldest weather here in the winter would seem somewhat mild.

Sorry I can't give you his name—that is part of the military secret. I guess, at least I was pledged to confidence when the story was told.

BARUCH COMMITTEE
IS WANTED ON JOBOhio Congressman Suggest
Coordination Needed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(P)—A suggestion that the Baruch committee be kept on the job to help solve problems of war production came today from Representative Bender (R-Ohio).

The committee, headed by Bernard Baruch, completed recently a survey of the rubber situation, an achievement which Bender said justified the confidence placed in the group. "In the past few weeks," he added, "there has been much evidence of a lack of coordination in the planning, production and utilization of our steel. Shops have been tapering off on work at the very moment when the President has been calling upon us for more and more goods."

BRITISH CARRIER SUNK

Survivors Tell Dramatic Story of Attack After They Finally Reach America

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(P)—The Navy announced today that two United States merchant vessels were lost in the Mediterranean Sea early in August out of a Malta-bound convoy at about the same time that the British aircraft carrier Eagle was sunk.

One of the American vessels was torpedoed and sunk by a motor torpedo boat at night after Axis air and sea craft had attacked the big convoy almost constantly for four days.

The Eagle, loss of which was announced in London, August 12, had been sunk the second day.

The other American merchantman was scuttled by the crew to prevent its falling into enemy hands after it had been torpedoed, presumably by a submarine.

Killed in the first ship were four members of the gun crew who were shot by machine guns when the Axis torpedo boat roared in to attack. There was no loss of life aboard the second vessel, the total complement of which was composed of 48 crew members, 14 gun crew members and 43 passengers. Total complement of the first vessel was 107.

The ship's companies, rescued by British war vessels, eventually returned to this country via England.

"The four-day ordeal (of the convoy) was opened by a submarine attack, which came shortly after the convoy passed through the Strait of Gibraltar," the Navy's account said. "Effective counter measures taken by protecting warships, however, got the merchant through without injury."

"The next day, there was another submarine sortie, and dive bombers made their first appearance overhead. As was later announced by the British Admiralty, it was in this attack that the British aircraft carrier HMS Eagle was sunk."

"High altitude bombing was added to the pattern of attack on the third day, and the British tanker Ohio was hit and severely damaged. The story of her heroic struggle into Malta despite her damage has been announced by the British."

"Later on the third day, torpedo planes joined the attack and several hits were scored in the face of spirited anti-aircraft fire."

"As dusk fell, the convoy's course brought it close to shore. Proceeding blacked out, the ships moved silently past the coast line until an hour after midnight. Then tabbing fingers of light from the shore picked them up, and motor torpedo boats roared out to the attack, supported by shore batteries."

"With a rising crescendo of motors, one of these small, deadly craft singled out a merchantman and, weaving and skidding on the surface of the water, sped in to

Only Sample at Dieppe and Solomons

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(P)—"Dieppe and the Solomon Islands are merely forecasts of the shape of things to come," chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Naval Affairs committee declared today in a public statement on the naval expansion program.

The Georgian's statement, asserting that "at sea we are beginning to turn the corner," was issued to reporters after President Roosevelt had requested yesterday an additional $2,731,154,308 to bring the Navy's current year appropriation to a record high of approximately $17,000,000,000. "We are now pushing our greatly augmented program of naval construction with the utmost speed at our command," Vinson said. "When it is completed and joins forces with the British and other Allied navies, it will give the United Nations a more nearly global strength at sea than the world has ever seen and seapower, welded by ships and aircraft, is the anvil on which the decision in this global war is being hammered out."

Vinson predicted the new navy would give the United States "the added escort and patrol craft needed to put an end to the U-boat menace" and "will enable us to take the offensive with su-

A Nazi 'Victory' in Russia Goes Up in Smoke

This photograph, showing Nazis advancing through a railway station on the eastern front, is apparently from an enemy source, but the British caption which came with it from London made no mention of the fact. It stated that the swift German advance made it impossible for the Russians to remove the freight train. Soviet troops counter-attacked later and applied their scorched earth technique, leaving only a shambles for the returning invaders. (Central Press)

Grain Traders Express Fear
Of Federal Price Control

By FRANKLIN MULLIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—(P)—Fear was expressed by grain men today that the nation's private wheat trade eventually may be paralyzed by federal price control.

They said that if the pending anti-inflation legislation and regulations set up under it to control farm prices are not carefully prepared to allow for the many peculiarities of grain marketing, the private trade may be strait-jacketed. Then complete federal operation of a vast and complex business might become necessary.

Difficulties associated with adoption of price restrictions for cereals resulted, they said, principally because grains differ widely in value.

Under pending legislation, the range of prices of wheat technically would be extremely narrow. Farm parity price is around $1.34 a bushel, which would be the ceiling. Government loan rates would be 90 percent, or about $1.21. The actual price of wheat on the farm now is well below either figure and would not necessarily rise to the loan rate, grain men said.

The Uhlman Grain Co. in a statement pointed out that "under this narrow spread a farmer who has obtained a loan and stored wheat off the farm for 7 or 8 months would hardly be able to pay charges that accumulate during this period even though he

Italy Gets Dissatisfied
With Deal with Hitler

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS
BERN, Switzerland, Sept. 22.—(P)—A bitter tirade against France by a semi-official Italian publication was interpreted today as indicating Italy's growing dissatisfaction with what she has gotten out of the Axis and her dwindling hopes of winning any material demands from participation in the war.

This conclusion was drawn by experienced observers from an article which appears in the weekly foreign affairs journal, Relazione Internazionale, and which, though directed at France, lacked any expression of faith that the Nazis would support Italy's war ambitions.

The article, voicing a fear known to have been widely held for some time in Italy, expressed belief that Pierre Laval, French chief of government, is cooperating with the Germans in the hope of winning the upper hand

MORE VIGOROUS WAR EFFORT
DEMANDED BY LEGIONNAIRESVeterans of First World War Urge Compulsory Training After War, Jobs Security for Returning Servicemen, and Fewer Deferments—Former Doughboys Want Place in Service

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22.—(P)—The Lost Legionnaires—the 1,500 men who came to the 1942 American Legion convention confused and ill at ease in their role as civilians in a uniformed, marching, fighting war—are going home with renewed hope. They're going to help win this new war.

They may not have any 1943 convention. They may be too busy. With a unity never before seen in American Legion history, the convention recorded demand after demand for a more vigorous war effort.

An estimated 100,000 Legionnaires have tried in vain to enter the new army but the legion is not abandoning its efforts to find places for them as uniformed teachers or military administrators.

Every civilian, too, the Legion demanded, must be assigned an immediate wartime role. There must be immediate legislation to conscript capital, labor, industry and agriculture, as well as men for the armed forces, the convention declared. Sentiment for lowering the draft age limit to include 18 and 19-year-olds also was registered.

The vote to admit as members, veterans of the present war proved almost a side issue as the dele-

GERMAN KNOCK-OUT

Expresses Conviction

LONDON, Sept. 22.—(P)—The conviction that it is possible to destroy Germany from the air is expressed by Brig. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, chief of the AEF bomber command, and he holds that the necessary forces "will be rapidly assembled."

General Eaker, who was nominated for promotion to a major generality by President Roosevelt, yesterday, declared in an interview published by the London Daily Mail that the enemy would fall before a sufficiently powerful series of vertical assaults.

"By destroying his munitions plants and communications you can bring his armies to a halt," he said.

"By destroying his shipyards you can make it impossible for him to build submarines." The general said "there is hardly a corner of Germany" which United States bombers would not reach within the next few months.

6-DAY WEEK FOR MINERS

HARRISBURG, Pa. (P)—Pennsylvania hard coal miners may work six instead of five days a week this winter because of fuel oil rationing, Richard G. Mainze, state mines secretary, said today. OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—(P)—Theodore Dreiser has been barred from making public statements or speeches in Canada on a charge that he expressed anti-British views in an interview published yesterday by the Toronto Evening Telegram.

Attorney General Gordon Conant of Ontario quoted from the Telegram's interview with the 71-year-old Indiana-born writer and lecturer as follows:

"I would rather see the Germans in England than those damn aristocratic horse-riding snobs there now. The English have done nothing in this war thus far except borrow money, planes and men from the United States. They stay at home and do nothing. They are lousy."

Justice Minister St. Laurent issued the ban, a spokesman for the justice department announced, under defense of Canada regulations.

NAZIS ADMIT PLANS UPSET

In Far Pacific, New Attack
On Solomons Expected as War Grips New Guinea

By ROGER D. GREENE

(By the Associated Press)
The Red flag still flew over rubble-heaped Stalingrad today and at mid-day the Russian high command announced that Soviet troops counter-attacking in some districts of the Volga metropolis had forced the Germans to retreat.

It was the 29th day of epic defense. German field headquarters asserted Nazi shock troops had captured additional strongly fortified blocks of houses in Stalingrad after close-quarter fighting. "Attacks don't halt," said dispatches to the Soviet newspaper Pravda. "Hand-to-hand clashes are going on in the square at street crossings and in houses."

Reference to "the square" perhaps indicated that the Germans now were battling near the heart of the city.

"Our units repulsed several enemy attacks and advanced in some sectors," the Soviet command said.

"Men of a guards (Elite) unit, in stubborn fighting with the enemy, wiped out more than 400 Germans and destroyed three tanks and two armored cars."

Dispatches to the German newspaper Frankfurter Zeitung admitted that "the fall of Stalingrad, and therewith the final breaking up of the Russian front, has been delayed," but asserted that "it has not been put off until winter."

Fresh Nazi troops were reported moving into action to replace the invaders' terrific losses, and advances reaching Ankara, Turkey, described large new movements of Rumanian troops en route to the Soviet front.

In the Central Caucasus, the Soviet command acknowledged that German troops had captured a height and a settlement in the Mozdok area, 50 miles north of the Grozny oil fields.

The Berlin radio, apparently seeking to shift emphasis from the Stalingrad front, asserted that Russian troops had been encircled on the central (Moscow) front after breaking through German lines at two points below Rzhev, key Nazi stronghold 135 miles northwest of Moscow.

British troops were reported locked in battle with strong French defense forces today only 19 miles from Tananarive, the capital of 1,000-mile-long Madagascar Island, after an 18-mile advance in 24 hours.

A Madagascar radio broadcast said the French were resisting stoutly.

Meanwhile, Navy Secretary Knox declared in Washington it was "a safe and sound assumption."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(P)—"The long chances" which war correspondents are taking to get the news fills Secretary of Navy Knox with "a great sense of pride."

Woman Finds Husband a Stranger
When Veil of Amnesia Is Lifted

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22.—(P)—The widow of a Binghamton, N. Y., editor suffering from amnesia for almost a year, recovered her memory yesterday to find herself married to a man she can't remember.

The mixup came to light when Mrs. Glory Weller Miller, 25, awoke in the unfamiliar surroundings of a motor hotel. Bewildered and not certain of her identity, she appealed to the hotel manager for assistance. He took her to the police station.

There police speedily identified her through a picture supplied by her husband, Henry Miller, a commercial photog-

But Miller was a stranger to his wife. She had no recollection of meeting him, of their marriage in Las Vegas, Nev., May 1, or of her life with him since.

AA Play-off Crown Won By Red Birds

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The Army emergency relief expects to clear about $250,000 from the eight games played by the two all-Army football teams—after paying all expenses, cutting the pros in for sizeable shares and in some cases splitting with other charities. Figures won't be ready until all the bills are in, but unofficial estimates are that about 265,000 fans turned out and paid about two bucks apiece.

Today's Guest Star

Francis E. Stan, Washington Evening Star: "The Louis-Conn affair is one scrap drive worthy of support, but if the War Department condones expenses that may be as much as $250,000, it can't be considered an all-out war effort. Offhand, we can't recall reading where Ensign Gay, Lieut. Bulkley and a lot of bona fide heroes were given bonuses to pay off their bank taxes and debts, so why Louis and Conn?"

He underwent an operation recently and won't be back on the job until the end of the year. . . . Lou Little, Columbia football coach, apparently owes Ohio State's Paul Brown a few players. For five seasons Lou has had at least one star lineman from Brown's Massillon, O., High School teams—first Cloyd and Don Snively, then Bill McMichael, a senior this year, and sophomore Jack Oliver and freshman Johnny Hill on the current squad.

Tulsa and New Orleans Have Softball Champs

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Softball stars from Oklahoma and Louisiana carried the "world's championships" home with them today after five days of struggle with the nation's best talent in the neighborhood sport. The Deep Rock Oilers of Tulsa swept to the men's championship of the amateur softball association of America last night, defeating the Zollner Pistons of Fort Wayne, Ind., 2 to 0, in a semi-final game and the Briggs Bombers of Detroit by the same score in the final. The Jax Brewers of New Orleans took the women's title with a 4 to 1 decision over the Garden City Maids of Chicago.

Columbus Team All Set To Enter Fifth 'Little Series' Against Easterners

COLUMBUS, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The rampant Columbus Red Birds captured the American Association playoff crown last night by scoring their fourth straight victory over Toledo and will enter their fifth "Little World Series" in 10 years.

The flock's opponent will be the winner of the Syracuse-Jersey City series in the International League. Syracuse now is leading three games to none. The Birds wrapped up the Association crown 6 to 1 at Toledo behind the stellar three-hit pitching of Red Mungler, concluding a rout begun last Friday night with a 9 to 0 triumph. The Birds won Saturday night 6 to 4 and Sunday 2 to 1.

The Ohio State Journal said it was fairly definite the Little World Series would start here, possibly Thursday night if Syracuse winds up its set with Jersey City today. The paper added that on the basis of present information it would be a two-three-two affair—the first two games here, three in Syracuse, and two more here, if needed. . . .

The Birds won the series last year from Montreal. Their previous series were in 1937, when they lost to Newark; 1934, when they beat Toronto; 1933, when they beat Buffalo, and 1907, when they lost to Toronto.

The playoff victory climaxed a spectacular season. Columbus finished third in the pennant chase, behind Kansas City and Milwaukee, after a stretch drive that saw the teams separated by not more than one and a half games.

Columbus whipped Kansas City four games to three in the preliminary playoffs, while fourth-place Toledo trounced Milwaukee in four of the six games.

The playoff title was worth $3,000 of the $12,000 players' pool.

Alsab, the three-year-old bargain colt owned by Al B. I. Alsab's owners took down the whole purse of $25,000 in the victory, scored by a nose over Whirly, the champion money-winner of all time. Above, Jockey Carroll Bierman, who rode Alsab to victory, sits proudly astride his horse in the winner's circle after the race.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

It is imperative that the ship lanes be kept free of ice. With American troops occupying Iceland and the Navy using the northern route for transportation of supplies to Russia, ice breakers are essential to Naval operations. The ice breaker is a specially constructed ship with heavily armored bows and powerful engines that crush the ice floes rather than ram through them.

Ice breakers of the Kickapoo class operating in the North Atlantic cost approximately $10,000,000. You can help our Navy build these ships by investing at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. Enroll in the payroll savings plan or apply at the nearest bank or postoffice. U. ### Worry Week In Big Ten

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—(AP)—This is worry week for Western Conference football coaches who are trying to get their teams in shape—and keep them that way—to meet Saturday's punishing opening schedule.

One of the headmen in the worry department today was big Lynn Waldorf, who sends his Northwestern Wildcats against Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman's smashing Seahawks.

CARDS CAN THANK JIMMY BROWN; HE MADE THEM WHAT THEY ARE

By SID FEDER

The chances are you are never going to see Jimmy Brown up there in the hall of fame. And you'd be willing to bet his chances of landing the most valuable player award any year are about as bright as one of those "solid gold" watches you can pick for a dollar.

But when it comes to handing out the poses to the guy who did as much—or more—than anyone else to bring the St. Louis Cardinals the National League pennant, don't overlook James Robertson Brown.

The Cards still have the little job of sewing up the flag first. But after their 2-1 win over Pittsburgh yesterday—in which second sacker Brown, incidentally, knocked both runs across—they still sported a 2-1-2 game bulge, with only five to go, even though Brooklyn took a 3-1 decision over the Phillies. And around Broadway today, the boys were laying 20-1 against the Bums.

There will be no doubt be some arguments over Jimmy Brown, of course. The folks talk about Mort Cooper's zip-ball and the awful things Country Slaughter does to pitchers. And when you mention Jimmy, they generally brush him off with, "Oh, yeah, he's pretty good too, but he's only batting .260." Yet, National League managers say he's the key man in the works, the guy who holds the infield together. And opposing infielders shudder when he gets on base, because, they tell you, "he'll steal anything."

It should also be pointed out that it's not so much what Jimmy does while he's in there—but what the Cardinals do when he's out. For, in the last three seasons—1939, '40 and '41—it was while Jimmy was on the shelf with assorted ailments that the Cards blew their chances. And as soon as he got back into action, they thundered down the stretch.

Naturally, all this sounds like something out of Frank Merriwell, but just to polish it off, don't forget that he was on the sidelines only six days this year. And from the day he came back in mid-August the Cards started the surge that has carried them to 36 victories in 43 games.

Yesterday, he pulled one out of the fire almost without any help. In the fourth inning, he singled the first run home. Then, after the Bucs tied it up, he drilled a hit through the infield in the ninth to knock the game-wrecker across. Meantime, the Dodgers took a 3-1 lead in the first frame against the Phils and hung onto it, although Kirby Higbe was in more tough spots than a rubber check specialist.

Marv Bruer looked like a sure winner for the Yankees over the Red Sox as he allowed only one hit for eight innings. Then Ted Williams' 36th homer tied it up in the ninth and Tony Lupien's single in the 11th gave Boston a 3-2 decision and Tex Hughson his 21st win of the year. In the only other big league game of the day, Detroit rolled over the Chicago White Sox 6-4.

American League Admits Cooper Might Pitch Good Game . . . But Yankee Hurler would Pitch Better

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP)—"Sure," conceded the American League man to the National Leaguer, "I wouldn't be surprised to see Mort Cooper pitch a whale of a game against the Yankees. They can be pitched to like any other club. Cooper might hold them to four or five hits and maybe a single run."

The National Leaguer beamed his surprise, but before he could think up a suitable reply, his antagonist continued:

"And you know what'll probably happen to Cooper? Spud Chandler or Ernie Bonham or somebody else on the Yankee staff will be having a hot day and Cooper will get beat about 1 to 0. That's what I mean about Cooper not winning the series for the Cardinals."

The writer regards this as a graphic summing-up of the pitching potentialities of the two clubs that probably will play the first game of the big series a week from tomorrow in St. Louis.

If the Yankees have the best pitching staff in baseball, as is widely believed, then the St. Louis Cardinals certainly have the second best.

It should be one of the best pitched World Series in a long time, with the scoring exceptionally low.

While Cooper, with his fine fast ball and great variety of stuff, is the one who will have to turn the Yankees back a time or two if the Cards are to have a hope of winning the series, he lacks considerable of being the "Cardinal staff." In Max Lanier and Ernie White the club has a pair of corking good Southpaws, and in Johnny Beazley the freshman pitching sensation of the National League.

The Yankees have vivid recollections of the Card hurlers from their spring exhibition series, which the Cards won 6 games to 3. In conversation the individual Yanks assert frankly that Cooper, Lanier and White will be "tough."

The Yankee staff, led by big Ernie Bonham with 20 wins and only five losses, probably is every bit as good as the one that held Brooklyn to 11 runs in five-series games a year ago. Behind Bonham are Spud Chandler and Hank Borowy.

Red Ruffing, a veteran now but still one of the game's greatest spot pitchers, likely will square off against Cooper in the opener. His record of six World Series victories against a single loss is unrivaled among today's pitchers.

SPIRIT OF ENTERPRISE
When automobile plants turned over all their production facilities to war weapons, thousands of dealers all over the country were left with very little to sell. What does the average American dealer do in a case like this? Does he quit and go on relief?

No, he looks around to find some way he can help his country win the war. He goes into the military service, he gets a job in industry, or he adjusts his business to existing conditions.

Hundreds of former automobile dealers are now selling blackout materials, air-raid sirens, poultry feed, or beer. Radio dealers are selling games and other amusements. Wholesale grocers are selling flower bulbs, cosmetics, and hosiery. Drug stores, no longer able to get clocks, appliances, and other department store stocks are putting increased emphasis on drug sales.

The spirit of America in war as well as in peace is to take what comes, make the best of it and cling to these things that have made this nation unbeatable.

GET THE NONPAYERS

Several facts remain unchanged throughout all the income and sales tax debates. The present program is inadequate for the job it is intended to do. Present resources have been taxed to the limit. Millions of people who are making more money than they had ever made in their lives are not reached at all by the present tax program.

"In 1940," says the New York Times, "fewer than 4,000,000 persons paid Federal income taxes. In 1941 the figure was lifted to 7,400,000; and this year, according to treasury estimates, about 13,000,000 were expected to make taxable returns. The new tax bill will still further raise the number making taxable returns, possibly to as many as 20,000,000, but of this large number the vast majority will pay only very small amounts."

Major opposition to a federal sales tax comes not from those who are already heavily taxed but from those who are not paying any income tax at all.

WORRIED RELATIVES

The parents, wives, brothers and sisters of Americans who were in the Philippines have been besieging every possible source for information whether they still are alive and, if so, where they are and what is their condition.

To these questions there is no answer, because the Japanese have not provided those lists of prisoners-of-war which humane peoples compile and transmit.

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart
WASHINGTON — The Republican complexion of Maine's election result has put a little pep into the pending political campaign. It needed considerable ginger up to make it properly exciting, and even yet it isn't very thrillingly so.
The old saying, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation," probably doesn't mean much, except that the Pine Tree commonwealth does its voting a bit ahead of the other states and its periodical verdicts generally are regarded as somewhat prophetic of what's to follow. However, the theory's more or less believed in. Consequently G.O.P. candidates throughout the country have been encouraged to put a modicum of additional jazz into their efforts and Democratic aspirants have been slightly alarmed into increasing their own activities.
The fact is that, so far as the war's concerned, it makes comparatively little difference which party makes the strongest showing at the polls in November.
It's highly important to have the right kind of legislators on Capitol Hill during the next couple of years, as well as later. It doesn't greatly matter, though, which partisan group of 'em is in a majority.
Republicans Noisier
If anything the Republicans are more vociferously militant than the Democrats. I don't mean to imply that they're more genuinely patriotic. The point is that the Democrats take themselves as behind their administration, whereas the Republicans feel the urge to holler about their super-cooperativeness in the present emergency.
Nobody says much as to the chance that the incoming congress will have a deal to do with subsequent peacemaking.
There's plenty of talk relative to post-war problems but it's principally purely argumentative — not the variety of oratory that requires maximum vocalization and eloquence.
Nevertheless, suppose the war peters out in 1943 or early in 1944 and international terms have to be agreed on. It won't be so spectacular as the existing situation, but it'll call for some sure-enough statesmanship. If it's unavailable there's liable to be another League of Nations, followed by what's followed the last one.
It isn't altogether an international election, either.
War-time necessarily involves a certain amount of internal near-dictatorship. It'll be up to the next congress or the still later one, to readjust things back to a 100 percent Democratic basis.
It'll be awful if Capitol Hill, in the meantime, permits things to become dictatorially frozen.
Possibilities of a fourth presidential term aren't discussed very audibly, but there's quite a lot of whispering about 'em.

A strong imagination, a tendency to be guided by impulse rather than careful judgment, accounts for the visionary concept of life which characterizes the person who has a birthday today. This person has fine executive ability, and a gentle and pleasant nature. He or she should be more practical and level-headed. In the next year caution should be used in dealings with solicitors, agents and business associates. Erratic changes should be avoided in all things. Misrepresentation and theft should be guarded against, and care should be exercised when traveling. Somewhat over-critical, fault-finding and impetuous will the child be who is born on this date. Such a personality should exercise tolerance and restraint, being careful in the written and spoken word.

through the Red Cross, as speedily and accurately as war conditions will permit. This negligence or deliberate restraint emphasizes one difference between Japanese and Occidentals. We wage war to accomplish a purpose, good or bad, and regret the human suffering that becomes inevitable, and try to limit that suffering as much as possible. The Japanese wage a war of extermination. To them human suffering is not worthy of consideration, unless from it they obtain sadistic pleasure.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.
THE COURSES in First Aid which are being given all over the country are certainly all for the best. A good many jokes about the first aiders are going around, but that is to be expected. Some of Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

the graduates will be competent and some not, just as in everything else in life.
As I see these first aiders in action from time to time my principal criticism is that they try to do too much. A person who is knocked down on the street or who is the victim of an automobile accident needs a period of rest and calm without anything done to him for a while. He needs to be rubbed or manipulated or lifted or pulled around. All he needs is quiet, just to get over his preliminary shock. It is not necessary to set a bone right away after it is fractured.

"Don't do too much."
What a doctor does to a patient right after an emergency is based largely on his knowledge of anatomy and physiology, and that took him two years of hard application to learn, so it is not surprising that it cannot be communicated to a class of lay students in First Aid in a few hours.

My first rule for the student of First Aid then is like the old story that is put in the mouth of the great Irish doctor, William Stokes. He had a young man just starting in the practice of medicine who visited him to hear what advice the great man could give him. At the end, just as the young man was leaving, Dr. Stokes said: "Oh, and one thing more, Charley, Remember don't do too much."

This applies doubly to the first aider.
People instinctively seem to have an impulse to rub a sick person. Now rubbing never does anybody any good if an acute condition is present. Massage is all right for chronic conditions, but not acute. And it has great potentialities for harm. A bone may be just a little bit broken, but in good condition. Your amateur first aider comes along and begins to rub and stroke and really breaks the bone. The same is true of dislocations.

What Will It Mean
What'll this year's election result signify, anyway?
If it's strongly Democratic, despite Maine's win, that means a popular endorsement of today's administration policies?—a dictatorial victory on the supposition that that's what we're heading into? Or will it mean that we don't believe in a reversal at such a juncture?—whatever the ultimate consequences?
But if the result is strongly Republican?
Will that mean a verdict against F. D.?

Or will it mean that the public's belief that F. D.'s okay, but that an incompetent congress (despite its Democratic label) has botched its job, in spite of him? Will it mean, in short, that the public's "FER" him, regardless of congressional part lines?—for him as a presidential individual? For a fourth term, if necessary!—or any old thing?
Perhaps history'll provide answers to some of these questions in a couple of centuries or so.

Doctor Warns First Aiders Not To Try To Do Too Much
By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
When bleeding is present there is one simple thing to do and remember which will save the first aider a lot of mental anguish. He is taught that with arterial bleeding he should put a constriction above the point of blood and with venous bleeding, below. But he can't always tell which is which in the presence of an actual case. Let me let you in on a secret. Neither can the surgeon always tell. But if you take a clean handkerchief and press down directly over the spot of bleeding you will be able to control it till the doctor gets there.

Fundamental Principles
There is one final decision the first aider has to make and that is when the victim wants to get up, shall you let him get up. This takes a little more than ordinary knowledge and you really have to apply some fundamental principles to make a decision.
First ask yourself whether there is any broken bone. Usually there comes down to finding out whether over the injured part there is a peculiar grating sound called crepitus, made by the ends of the broken bone. Second, count the pulse. If there is internal bleeding it will certainly be over 80 and probably over 90.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
A. L. K.—Please explain the Graham test for gallbladder trouble.
Answer: Dr. Everts Graham, of St. Louis, discovered a dye which when swallowed (or put in a vein) goes directly to the liver, is excreted in the bile, and makes a shadow on the x-ray. So, in suspected gallbladder disease this procedure is carried out and if the x-ray shows the gallbladder clearly, the inference is that it is healthy. The outline of stones, otherwise opaque to the x-ray, can be seen this way. If no dye enters the gallbladder it is assumed it is diseased.

Mark's Wife
by MARIE BLIZARD
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION
CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE
IT WAS a little after 2 o'clock, an unheard of hour for Barbara to appear for the first time during the day, but it had been long after three when she finally went to sleep. She had many things to think about and she had indulged in the rather sadly pleasant romantic experience of routing Tom Kilcran from her delayed girlish dreams.
She greeted her assistant with her usual bright smile. "How goes everything, Ellen?"
Ellen's face was long.
"Oh, Mrs. Wister, terrible!"
"Terrible? How could it? What do you mean? Not that you..." She looked at the girl. Ellen had been promised that she could discard her braces within a month and Barbara remembered that she was to have had an examination the night before.
"Oh, it's not me, Mrs. Wister," Ellen said. "It's that the telephone's been busy ever since 11 o'clock and..."
"But that means business is good, my dear. Have we any orders in the mail?" Barbara turned back to her desk, relieved.
Ellen handed her a memorandum pad with a score of names on it. "All cancelled," she said. "These are the reservations for the nursery."
"Cancelled?" Barbara said blankly. "Why?"
"I don't know. No one gave any reason..." And Mrs. Walker called and wanted to know when you're going to New York again.
"Maybe she wants me to get something I can order by mail. Did she say what it was?"
"No. She just said she wanted to know when you were going."
"But she knows I go every fortnight. I'll ring her up." She dialed the Walker number.
"Hello!" Mrs. Walker's high voice answered.
"Mrs. Walker, this is Barbara Wister. You rang..."
"Mrs. Walker is not in," that lady said tartly and hung up.
If she had slapped her, the expression on Barbara's face could not have been more pained and puzzled.
She said in a small voice, "Ellen, what could have happened?"
Ellen couldn't tell her because she didn't know.
Ruth Calder would have known and would have told her, but the nurse was away on a case and Barbara had completely forgotten the conversation they had had weeks before.
"It's just one of those things that happens to everybody in business," she said to Ellen. "Maybe people are going to be more economical. The war in Europe has everybody scared," she said more to reassure herself than Ellen.
"Come, come," he protested.
But three weeks later, when it was only a thin stream of coins that dribbled into her cash box, she knew that it was no waste of economy that so quickly withered the branches of her prospering little business.
It was just such a night, sharply clear and frosty under the same stars—the night of Mark Wister's funeral—that Tony Bradshaw had first mounted the worn steps of the Wister house with hope—necessity postponed—causing his heart to beat wildly against his ribs. Just a year ago, before the Kilcrans came into their two lives.
His heart no longer beat madly as he mounted the steps; it was like a lump of lead in his chest.
The expression on his face lightened when Barbara opened the door and gave him her hand, but his heart did not. She was thinner and all the vitality had gone out of her, the glow that had first attracted him had been snuffed out. Her immense calm, too, had been shaken; now she was nervous, restless and uncertain in her movements.
All these things, that the events of the month past had done to her, Tony saw through the eyes of a physician and the heart of a friend, and while she told him the story of everything that had happened, he felt miserably inadequate, as physician as well as friend, since there was nothing he could prescribe for her.
She had been talking for more than half an hour, reciting methodically each little thing that totaled up into the disastrous sum total of failure. She tried to keep her voice even and reasonable, but her puzzlement and hurt broke through poignantly.
"In the summer, when everything was booming—the telephone constantly ringing, a stream of people coming and going in the shop and more work than I could handle in the course of a day—I was often convinced that it wasn't true. It was a dream! Now that dream has become a nightmare and I wish I could believe it isn't true!"
"You see, Tony, it isn't only a matter of my bread and butter and Sonny's future—which is pretty important—but it seems to me that my integrity as a person is in jeopardy."
"That's something that couldn't possibly be," he told her with such conviction that she flashed him a bleak smile of gratitude.
"If things go on this way much longer, I'll be convinced of it. You see, things have been getting steadily worse for the last four weeks. Everything seems to have collapsed. No orders of any kind, no children sent to the nursery. Nothing!"
"Come, come," he protested.
"I've seen people in your shop," she nodded. "Yes, they come to borrow books—and to look at me, maybe."
"Why should they?" he asked stoutly.
Barbara walked the length of the room and back and then went to the window and spoke to him, with her back turned so that he would not see her face.
"That's what I don't know, but I have come to know a lot of things in this last year about people. I know when they want to be nice and feel that they have to hold back. I know when they're curious and when they're not, and when interest is furtive and when it is not! Curiosity, and furtive interest and people's being nice but not cordial to me..." That's what I've been getting lately, Tony, my friend. You see I'm on trial for something." She turned and faced him then. "The awful thing about it is that I don't know what it is."
The doctor pulled on the lobe of his ear, rubbed his chin and looked everywhere except at her. If only he dared ask her to tell him everything that was in her heart. As a physician, he knew that talking about it should give her some relief.
She went on:
"It isn't only in business that this persecution is going on. It's everywhere apparent. The women I thought were my friends, liked me... Oh, they're nice, yes, but really cordial, no! They don't invite me to their houses, or to take part in any activities. They don't even stop in just to chat anymore. And I'm too proud, Tony, to ask them why. Should I?"
Tony didn't answer. He was engrossed in examining a hole in a cigarette and a search for the right words. For he was convinced that the diagnosis he had privately made accounted for more of her unhappiness than the collapse of her business, important as that was. He couldn't come out and tell her that he knew she was in love with Kilcran. He couldn't help her until she told him herself. And he couldn't blame her; he had only pity for any woman who had the heartache that must surely be hers.
Abruptly he said, "If there's any reason back of all this—and mind you, I haven't admitted that there is—have you any idea in your own mind what it could be?" His eyes did not meet hers when he spoke, because he didn't want her to see that it needed little searching for anyone to have seen the way she turned her laughing face to Tom Kilcran's.
When she didn't answer immediately, he said, "About Kilcran, perhaps."

Women Can Fight - - They Have Since '76

By ADELAIDE KERR
(Wide World News Service)
Molly Pitcher fired her husband's cannon on a battlefield of the Revolution.
Clara Barton nursed thousands of sick and wounded during the Civil War.
"Mrs. Jones" farmed, canned, made guns and drove ambulances in World War I.
Today Oveta Culp Hobby heads America's first women's army in World War II.
American women, millions strong, have helped fight their country's wars since colonial days.
Molly Pitcher's cannon job was unique, but the rest of her war work was not. She was on hand when her husband fell beside his cannon at the Battle of Monmouth because, like a lot of other colonial wives, she had followed her husband to war. She nursed, cleaned camp and whisked around with pitchers of cool water when the going got hot on battlefields. (That's how she earned her name "Molly Pitcher"—her real name was Mrs. John Hayes.)
Molly was one of thousands of colonial women who did their war work alone in whatever way they could think of. Mary Bowen, sister of Rhode Island's governor, collected bolts of fabric and made clothes for the army. Emily Geiger carried an important message from General Green to General Sumter, was caught, ate up the message and then, when freed, delivered it verbatim to Sumter.
Deborah Sampson fought in the army under the name "Robert Shirreff" until an attack of camp fever brought her to the hospital.
In the war of 1812 and the Mexican War, the work women did was less picturesque, but they kept busy knitting and nursing.
When the Civil War broke, the women of the North swung into their first mass war work. They headed organizations which raised $50,000,000 in four years for sick and wounded. They collected clothes and sent them to camps, worked in soldiers' homes and hospitals and went into camps and settlements to educate former slaves. Some women made history by joining men in manufacturing ammunition.
In this war Clara Barton began the great work which led eventually to the Red Cross. She drove her supply wagons into battle-field areas and nursed, fed and cared for soldiers.
The brief Spanish-American War again saw women's war work chiefly confined to "nursing and knitting"—though this time some worked on foreign soil.
When World War I broke, industry, helping produce tanks, bombs and planes.
Ten thousand nurses are serving Army and Navy at home and abroad.
In World War II the women are even part of the Army. Oveta Culp Hobby heads the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps in which 150,000 women will soon be helping fight the war for Uncle Sam.
When World War I broke, American women swung into the greatest war work they had ever done. Under the National League for Women's Service and the Women's Committee of the National Council of Defense they plunged into scores of jobs. Many women worked to conserve food—farming, canning, working in community kitchens. Two million more went into industry, "doing their bit" in food, textile and war supply factors. Another crew joined the motor corps, transporting men and supplies in emergencies. Others helped Uncle Sam put over the Liberty Loan drives. A few picked thousands of uniforms and went to France to nurse, drive ambulances and work in canteens.
Today American women are at war again. For the first time they are working in national wartime organizations beside men instead of alone in separate women's groups. More than a million women are at work in civilian defense. Two million more are in industry, helping produce tanks, bombs and planes.
Ten thousand nurses are serving Army and Navy at home and abroad.
In World War II the women are even part of the Army. Oveta Culp Hobby heads the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps in which 150,000 women will soon be helping fight the war for Uncle Sam.

From where I sit...

In the square of a little village not far from here I came on the prettiest flower garden you ever saw.
It was a lot of flowers all mixed up—hundreds of different kinds, I guess. So I asked a passerby if he could tell me about it.
"Well," he says, "in this town whenever anybody plants a flower garden and has any seeds left, they scatter them over this plot."
Then he leans over and pulls out a couple of weeds. "We all have to help pull out the weeds too," he tells me. "That way the village has a flower garden to be proud of."
around beer. But the weeds—well—they've got to be pulled out, too.
Everybody has to lend a hand. And the brewing industry is just sensible enough to recognize that... But what's more—they're doing something about it.
The brewers don't want their beer sold in the wrong kind of places, and so they've teamed up with the authorities in a self-regulation program to make care-less beer retailers "clean up or close up," as they say.
From what I read, the plan is working out mighty successful in a number of states, and is spreading into others.
From where I sit, it looks like a fine idea... a mighty practical example of how honest co-operation works out to the benefit of everyone—the brewers, the beer retailers, and us plain citizens that like our gardens and our pleasures—with the weeds kept out.

Miss Helen Knapp Is Beautiful September Bride Of Mr. Hugh S. Starr

Marriage Solemnized in First Methodist Church, Mt. Sterling, on Sunday Afternoon; Lovely Reception Follows

September's golden weather lent a perfect fall day for the wedding of Miss Helen Knapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Knapp of Mt. Sterling, and Mr. Hugh S. Starr, son of Mrs. Helen J. Starr, of Mt. Sterling.

In the radiant sunlight of the late afternoon, the ceremony took place at four o'clock Sunday in the First Methodist Church, Mt. Sterling, and was a wedding of memorable beauty and simplicity. The church was completely filled with friends and relatives for the beautiful service, who assembled for the half hour musical program preceding the ceremony.

The altar of the church was banked with numerous flower standards holding white gladioli and immense white chrysanthemums. Tall white cathedral tapers burning in seven branch candelabra, flanked the altar and cast a soft illumination over the bridal tableau.

The very beautiful and appropriate bridal music was presented by Miss Martha Gittens at the organ, and Miss Gypsy Lee Billips, of New Philadelphia, who sang very lovely. The selections included "Because," "I Love Thee," "Until," "I Love You Truly" and "A Wedding Prayer."

As the hands of the clock approached the hour of four, Rev. C. W. Grant took his place at the altar, followed by the groom and his best man, his brother, Mr. Clayton Starr, Columbus, and his ushers, Mr. Barney German, of Cleveland, and Mr. Rupert Starr.

With the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, little Miss Sue Reiterman, flower girl led the procession, scattering rose petals as she went to the altar. She was sweetly gown in a floor length jersey, of heavenly blue.

The four bridesmaids, Mrs. Eldon Lightfoot of Washington C. H., sister of the bride, Miss Peg Gensemer, of Millersburg, Mrs. Clayton J. Starr, of Columbus, and Miss Betty Gerhardt, of Mt. Sterling, were exquisitely costumed in long gowns of light and royal blue jersey, made with fitted bodice and long flowing skirts. Clusters of yellow mums formed headresses for them, and they carried arm bouquets of the same flower.

Miss Bee Knapp, of Washington C. H., was maid of honor for her sister, and was beautiful in a

Potluck Supper Entertained by Wilma Noble

Among the many gay affairs that have been staged among the young people before returning to college, no more delightful party has been given than the one by Miss Wilma Noble, of Bloomingburg, on last Friday evening.

Miss Noble plans to return to Ohio State University in the very near future, where she will be a sophomore in the College of Education, and majoring in Physical Education. She will reside at the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority house, of which she is a member.

Miss Noble recently returned from spending the summer months at Camp Wyandotte, near Lancaster, where she was a counselor.

A potluck supper opened the evening's pleasures, for which the hostess added numerous good dishes and delights.

The remainder of the evening was spent in enjoying the football game between Washington and Portsmouth East and going to the dance at the G. A. R. Hall.

Guests for the evening were Misses Marilyn McCoy, Mary Elizabeth Browning, Juanita Purcell, Helen Crampton, Cozette Larimer, Mary Dorothy Williamson, Mary Frances Haines and Rebecca Coffey.

Neerth Club
Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McFadden were delightful host and hostess to the members of the Neerth Bridge Club and their husbands Monday evening, when they opened their lovely country home for a potluck supper and an evening of cards.

The supper was served from the dining table, perfect in appointments, and centered with a lovely watergarden of fall blooms. The large assortment of delicious viands were arranged on bright Fiesta ware, making a pretty note.

Small tables seated the guests for the very appealing supper, and the hour particularly gay.

Bridge was played during the evening with prizes of Defense Stamps presented to Miss Amelia Pensyl, Mrs. Howard Foster and Mrs. Gilbert Biddle, the latter a guest prize.

Twinings Open Home to Group Of Young People

Rev. and Mrs. Harold B. Twinning, of the First Baptist Church, opened their new home at 224 East Paint Street Sunday evening for the young people of Rev. Twinning's congregation.

Twenty-eight of the thirty-three that attended the Baptist Youth Fellowship meeting earlier in the evening, and remained for the evening worship service, most of which composed the Youth Choir, preceded Rev. and Mrs. Twinning to their home, lighting a carefully laid fire in the living room fireplace, adding a cheerful note to the evening spent by part of the group in singing and solos. Miss Betty Peterson, talented pianist, was at the piano, with solos by Harold Robinson, Robert Browning and Miss Lorie Merritt.

Mr. Twinning's study was a setting for another group who played games under the supervision of Miss Betty Robinson, while others popped corn in the kitchen for the entire group.

This is only one of the pleasant Sunday evenings of the young people's fellowship of the First Baptist Church, have been enjoying in recent weeks.

Family Dinner

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Hidy of Staunton was the scene of a delightful family gathering on Sunday, when about thirty-five relatives arrived with well filled baskets to enjoy the day.

After the delicious dinner had been partaken of, the remainder of the day was spent in visiting. The guests included: Mr. Allison Hidy, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hidy, Mrs. Bruce Hidy, son, Howard, daughter, Evelyn, Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Baughn, daughter, Shiria, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Baughn, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wike, Mrs. May Hays, son Robert, daughter, Mary, Mrs. Elva Newman of Greenfield, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Grimm, daughters Wanda and Lucile, Mr. J. W. Stewart and Mrs. Loia Shepherd of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Mumma, Mrs. Harry Rankin, sons, Donald and Allen, of Springfield, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Page, daughter, Phyllis of New Vienna.

Miss Ethel Hidy assisted her parents in the hospitalities of the day.

Steak Supper
Including members of their family as guests, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Leach were hosts to a steak supper on Sunday evening. The delicious meats were grilled on the outdoor oven, and all accompanying good dishes were added for the pleasures of the guests, who were Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Louis, Mr. John Louis, and Miss Wanda Arnold, of New Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Chapman and Mrs. J. L. Chapman.

Jeffersonville Flower Show Has Large Display

The Jeffersonville Garden Club held their annual flower show, Wednesday, September 16. The exhibits far exceeded the anticipation of the club, totaling more than 150 entries.

The committee in charge was Miss Maud Wood, Mrs. Nora Fultz, Mrs. Flora Robbins, Mrs. Eva Porter and Mrs. Virginia Shoemaker.

The show was judged by Mrs. Alice Neer, Mrs. Clyde Rowand and Mrs. Frank Dement, ladies from the South Solon Garden Club.

The entrants felt that their exhibits were fairly and capably judged. Mrs. Virginia Shoemaker received first prize, Mrs. Nora Fultz, second prize, Mrs. Dale Davidson, third prize and Mrs. Kate Bush fourth prize. Those privileged to view this lovely array of flowers commented on the quantity and quality and felt that those who missed seeing the show missed a treat.

Women of the Moose
The Women of the Moose met in regular session during the week end, with a very large attendance of ladies present for this meeting.

An interesting letter from the Grand Chancellor, Katherine Smith, of Washington, D. C., was read and proved to be most interesting, having contained congratulations to the committee chairman on the work achieved during August.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, September 25, followed by a potluck supper and birthday party in honor of all members having birthdays during this month. Sales tax stamps are to be turned in at this meeting, and there will be a special nomination and election of officers.

Buy War Bonds and Stamps.

Beautiful Wedding Unites Elizabeth Ann Todhunter And Mr. Herschel Riley

A wedding of interest to a large circle of friends in and around Washington C. H. is that of Miss Elizabeth Ann Todhunter and Mr. Herschel Riley which took place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Todhunter, 627 Lafayette Street, Greenfield, in the presence of immediate relatives and families.

Preceding the ceremony, which was beautiful in its dignity and simplicity, Mrs. Leroy Hayes played softly Schubert's Ave Marie.

The bridal party entered the liv-Mendelssohn's wedding march taking their places before the bay window which was transformed by an arrangement of yellow pompoms, flanked by seven branch candelabra holding cathedral tapers which shed their soft glow during the service.

The Rev. A. F. Leon, pastor of St. Benignus Catholic Church read the impressive single ring ceremony. Attending the young couple were Miss Mary Jean Williams of Washington C. H. and Miss Kay Corcoran of Chillicothe, former classmates of the bride at Office Training Business School, Columbus, Mr. Dane Iseman, close friend of the groom and Mr. John William Todhunter brother of the bride.

Miss Todhunter chose for the occasion a striking street length frock of deep brown transparent velvet, fashioned with a softly shirred bodice and bracelet sleeves. The full, tiered effect skirt swirled softly from the bodice. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls and her flowers were a cascade shower bouquet of bronze daisy chrysanthemums tied with gold streamers. In the center was a cluster of talisman roses.

Miss Williams and Miss Corcoran were becoming afternoon dresses in autumn shades and carried crescent shaped arm bouquets of pastel pompoms tied with contrasting bows.

Immediately following the ceremony the wedding party and guests were invited to the dining room where refreshments were served from a lace covered table beautifully appointed in silver and crystal. The centerpiece was made of orchid daisy chrysanthemums flanked by tall white tapers. The bride and groom cut a traditional three tiered wedding cake artistically decorated with rose buds and topped by a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Hayes provided nuptial music during the reception.

Assisting Mrs. Todhunter in the dining room were her sisters, Mrs. Roy Hale of Vandalia and Mrs. Clarence Craver of Milford.

Before leaving on their wedding trip the bride changed to a classic model dressmaker suit of Air Force blue and a pill box hat of gold with a brown veil that matched her accessories. On her shoulder was pinned the roses from her bridal bouquet.

Mr. Riley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Riley, 127 South Street, Greenfield. Both he and his bride being popular members of the 1941 class of Edward Lee McClain High School. They are now engaged in government work in Dayton where they will be at home after October 1st at 218 Salem Avenue.

Party for Mrs. Chaffin
Mr. and Mrs. Joe Porter, of Bloomingburg entertained Sunday evening, with a pot luck supper in honor of their granddaughter, Mrs. Lela Porter Chaffin who leaves soon to join her husband, Mr. Paul Chaffin, Jr., in Trinidad and where they will make their home for the duration.

Those enjoying the affair with the honor guest were Mr. and Mrs. John Sagar and family, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Icenhower, and son, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McMahon, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Porter and daughter, of Washington C. H., Mr. and Mrs. Harold McMahon, of London, Mr. and Mrs. John Groff and son, Tom, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Porter.

Dinner Party
Dr. and Mrs. L. Loring Brock entertained with a very delightful dinner party on Monday evening, taking their guests to the Washington Country Club. The party honored Mrs. William Westerfield, who is visiting here from New Orleans, La. Seated with the host and hostess and the guest of honor were: Mr. L. Loring Brock, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Willis, Miss Suzanne Willis and Mr. Harris Willis.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—(P)—Grain prices moved higher under the leadership of wheat today, although trading was quiet and without any outstanding feature. Interests of the trade was focused on legislative developments in Washington.

Wheat, up about a cent at times, gained strength from buying credited to one of the large milling concerns. The sharp advance in the hog market, where best offerings sold above $15, exerted a strong undertone on corn.

Wheat closed strong, gains ranging from 3/4 to 1 1/2 cent. September 1.25 1/2-3/4, Dec. 1.27 3/4-7/8. Corn was 1/4c lower to 1/2c higher. Sept. 83 1/2-1/4c, Dec. 86-86 1/2c; oats were 1/4c lower to 3/4c higher, rye up 3/4-1/2c and soybeans unchanged to 1/2c higher.

RUSSIAN PRINCE WEDS COMMONER IN ENGLAND

FAVERSHAM, England, Sept. 21—(AP)—Prince Andrew, son of the late Grand Duke Alexander of Russia and a nephew of the late Czar Nicholas II, married Nadine McDougall in a colorful Russian Orthodox service here today. Members of the old Russian royal house were among the guests.

The prince is a cousin of King George, and the bride is the daughter of Lieut. Col Herbert McDougall, who is now serving in Africa.

A rudimentary steam engine made in ancient Egypt was described by Hero of Alexandria, writing about 120 B.C.

FAYETTE COUNTY WOMAN AND USO EACH GET $100

Contest Which She Entered And Won September 17, Ended Last Friday

A Fayette County woman and the United Service Organizations each were $100 better off today all because of a contest and because Mrs. Jesse M. Cuslee, Route 5, had some prize winning reasons why "Oxydol and Camay are favorites in my home."

Mrs. Cuslee entered the contest in which she had to give her reasons in 35 words or less and was awarded one of the ten prizes offered on September 17 by the Proctor and Gamble Co., of Cincinnati, sponsor of the contest and maker of Oxydol and Camay.

A representative of the company, here Monday, said Mrs. Cuslee had been given her $100 check and Carroll Halliday, chairman of the USO fund campaign committee, said that according to the rules of the contest the company had given the USO a check for $100 in the name of Mrs. Cuslee.

The company representative said Proctor and Gamble had awarded $25,000 to the USO and $25,000 to individual prize winners throughout the country during the contest, which ended last Friday.

The checks for the USO War Fund Campaign were contributed in the prize winners' names to the local USO campaign committee in the areas in which the winners live.

The USO—United Service Organizations—is organized for the sole purpose of providing recreation and comfort for the men in uniform in their off-duty hours. It provides club and game rooms, free movies and lectures, dances, etc., near Army, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard posts. It represents the YMCA, the National Catholic Community Service, the Salvation Army, the YWCA, the Jewish Welfare Board and the National Travelers Aid Association.

The USO is serving millions of men in the armed forces on land and sea in their off-duty hours.

DAHLIA GARDEN DRAWS ATTENTION

Over 100 Varieties Grow on Highland Avenue

At the present time Mrs. Nona Knisley, Highland Avenue, has approximately 100 different kinds of dahlias blooming in her large flower garden.

For a number of years, Mrs. Knisley has specialized in dahlias, and her list includes a number introduced from foreign countries.

Many of the dahlias are of unusually large size and beautiful coloring.

The large number of blooming dahlias are attracting much attention.

MANY ADDITIONS TO POPULATION

Numerous Families Move into City Recently

During the past few weeks quite a number of families have moved into the city, and indications are that the number will continue to increase rapidly as more and more work is furnished by factories and other enterprises.

These families have come from all directions and over a wide radius.

A number of them include school teachers, new employees of factories and other businesses here.

TWO MORE FAYETTE COUNTY MEN SENT

Two colored registrants from Fayette County were sent to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Monday.

They were Fred Mabry, Jr., and Eugene Lane. Both men had previously passed the physical tests.

So far as known there will be no additional men sent to camp from Fayette County during the remainder of September.

CROSS PETITION FILED

In the divorce action of Mildred A. Finney against James R. Finney, the defendant, through attorney Richard P. Rankin, has filed an answer and cross petition, in which he enters a general denial to nearly all allegations made by the plaintiff in her petition, and files numerous counter charges.

In his answer the defendant also states the plaintiff has no claim on certain household goods and real estate, other than granted through operation of law, and asks that he be divorced from the plaintiff and that she be denied dower rights in the property.

In his cross petition the defendant charges the plaintiff with gross neglect of duty, extreme cruelty, and makes various other charges. He asks the plaintiff's petition be dismissed.

18 AIRPLANES PASS OVER CITY

Large Formation Was Headed Toward Columbus Late Monday

Eighteen Army airplanes passed over Fayette County and this city around 8 P. M. Monday, coming from the south and heading toward Columbus.

Eleven planes were in the first formation, with two following, and then a group of three and another pair of the fast moving planes.

All were flying at a high altitude, displaying lights, and apparently consisted of a flight for the purpose of night training of pilots—a vital factor in the world war.

The planes are only a few of the large numbers which have been passing over Fayette County in recent months, and it is expected the number will increase as the training program develops.

TIRES DESTROYED ON STOCK TRUCK

Friction Responsible for Truck Damage

When a down tire rubbing against another tire on a stock truck, burst into flames and threatened to destroy the truck at the stock yards here at 9:15 Monday night, firemen were called and extinguished the blaze with the booster line.

The two tires were ruined and the body of the truck slightly damaged before the department reached the scene.

BOY RETURNS BIKE AFTER LONG TRIP

A boy who had rented Oliver Flowers' bicycle, for 15 cents, to ride, presumably while Oliver was seeing a picture show Saturday night, returned the bicycle to the owner Monday.

It seems the boy had ridden the bicycle to Bainbridge, being accompanied by another boy, and when the other boy declined to return here Sunday, the boy with the rented bicycle also remained in Bainbridge, and started back home early Monday morning, arriving in due time and delivering the bicycle to the much worried owner.

Police had investigated the matter.

WOMEN WANTED!

On Sept. 25 and 26, 1942, Mr. H. G. Maynor, an administrative assistant of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will interview female applicants for immediate employment in the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington, D. C., at an entrance salary of $1440 per year, with unlimited opportunity for advancement.

Applicants must be high school graduates, citizens, in good physical condition and between 18 and 40 years of age.

All those interested in assisting in the war effort are urged to appear at 9 A. M. to 1 P. M. at Room 554, New Post Office Building, Columbus, Ohio.

It is suggested that applicants bring with them their picture, approximately 3 by 5 inches.

Fayette County Boys With Armed Forces

Mrs. Tillie Burris has received word from her son, Private James Burris, that he has arrived safely in England, and that he is in good health.

Sgt. Ralph Bartlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bartlett, of Jeffersonville, stationed in the Canal Zone, has received this promotion from the rank of corporal.

Pvt. Joseph Lanum, of Jeffersonville, has been transferred from Newark, N. J., to the Republic Aviation Corps, Roosevelt Field, Mineola, L. I., N. Y.

Mr. William Daugherty has enlisted in the Naval Reserve, and will leave October 6 for Norfolk, Va., where he will take extensive training under the supervision of Gene Tunney. Mrs. Daugherty will remain with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Brock.

Mr. Robert Seibert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Seibert, of Jeffersonville, has enlisted in the Army Reserves, unassigned. He returned on Tuesday to Ohio State University, Columbus, to resume his studies in the second quarter of his sophomore year.

Lt. Richard Cockerill, of Camp Barkley, Texas, is on a week's furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Cockerill, on Washington Avenue. He was graduated on September 18 from the Officers Candidate School at Camp Barkley, and received the commission of Second Lieutenant in the Medical Administrative Corps. He will return to that camp, where he will be associated with the Officers Candidate School as an instructor in the Department of Tactics.

Sgt. Robert Cook, son of Dr. and Mrs. P. M. Cook, Columbus Avenue, and one of the first Fayette County boys inducted into the army more than a year ago, is getting his chance for a commission. He telephoned his parents that he had been transferred from New Orleans, where he has been in camp for several months, to Maryland to enter an officer candidate school. They were all so excited and elated over the appointment, they admitted, that they did not get the name of the school to which he had been assigned. But, they will get that in due time when he writes.

Pvt. Logan E. DeWitt, who was inducted into the army from Washington C. H. last June 1, today is "somewhere in the British Isles." His mother, Mrs. Ruth Potts, 1013 John Street, has just received a letter from him telling her not to worry "because everything is quiet here now," and saying that "the towns and countryside are beautiful." His letter also said he was interested in his work—but did not saw what it was—and that he was having a good time and enjoying life.

Mrs. Potts said her son had been sent from Ft. Hayes to the Aberdeen, Md., army proving grounds where he was assigned to special work. Although she does not know when he arrived overseas she added that she "had a feeling" he must have gone by plane because she talked with him by telephone only two weeks before she was notified by the War Department that he had "arrived at his destination" safely. Three days later, she said, she received the letter from him.

While Mrs. Potts was still re-reading the letter from the one son overseas, she was saying goodbye to her only other son, Given (Jiggs) DeWitt, as he left Friday for Ft. Hayes and induction into the army. A former employee of the Washington Ice Co., he was home for a short visit Sunday wearing his new uniform proudly as he made the rounds for short visits with his friends.

Daniel McGlone, taken into custody by Sheriff W. H. Icenhower on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct, was fined the costs in Justice George Worrell's court.

He paid the costs and was released.

KNIFE-WIELDER TO BE PAROLED

Richard Garrett Was Sent Up After Death of Another Negro

Richard Garrett, 25, Xenia Negro, who was sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary from this county, on October 8, 1940, for fatally stabbing Jess William Rickman, 44, another Xenia Negro, on the Fayette County Fairgrounds, the night of July 26, 1940, has been granted a parole effective January 2.

Garrett had stabbed Rickman with a pocket knife, and Rickman, after walking a short distance, collapsed at the east end of the grandstand, and died a short time later.

Garrett was indicted on a second degree murder charge, but entered a plea of not guilty to that charge, but expressed a willingness to plead to manslaughter, and this plea was accepted.

He was given one to 20 years in the penitentiary.

FIRST BANANAS HERE IN SEVERAL WEEKS

Easing of Submarine War Seen in Shipment

Receipt of the first shipment of bananas in many weeks was noted here Saturday, and there was a heavy demand for the limited shipment reaching this city.

Absence of this popular and inexpensive fruit has been due to the submarine warfare in the sea lanes used by the fruit boats from Central America.

Presence of the bananas is taken to indicate at least partial elimination of the submarine menace.

SELDEN GRANGE INDUCTS CLASS OF CANDIDATES

Plans Made for Annual Booster Night on September 29

The third and fourth degrees of the Order of Patron's of Husbandry were conferred by Selden Grange, Monday evening. The new members receiving the degrees were: Mrs. Robert Hook, Lora Jean Anderson, Kathleen Morrow and Russell Lanman.

The third degree was given in a very meritorious way by a young peoples' team of Selden Grange. The members of this team are: Master, Frank Sollars; Overseer, Glen Earl Davis; Lecturer, Harold Moats; Steward, Glen Rhonemus; Assistant Steward, Donald Brandenburg; Chaplain, June Montgomery; Ceres, Lois Cavine; Pomona, Clara Marting; Flora, Alice Lee Montgomery; Lady Assistant Steward, Martha Lou Nisley. The Harvest Marchers in the third degree were: Veral Davis, Helen Denen, Jane Mark, Marion Waddle, James Waddle and Donald Anderson.

The fourth degree personnel: Master, W. W. Montgomery; Overseer, Ralph Nisley; Lecturer, Jane Mark; Steward, Glen Rhonemus; Assistant Steward, Donald Anderson; Chaplain, Martha Lou Nisley; Secretary, Gordon Davis; Ceres, Lois Cavine; Pomona, Helen Denen; Flora, Alice Lee Montgomery; and Lady Assistant, June Montgomery.

The pianist for both degrees were Miss Frances Ging. The vocal numbers were sung by Clara Marting, Lois Cavine and Alice Lee Montgomery.

Selden Grange Booster Night was announced for Tuesday evening, September 29. This is to be an open meeting, and everyone interested in agriculture and rural life is welcome.

The Lecturer has arranged an excellent program for this occasion. Besides entertainment and music by local Grange members, the Master of the Ohio State Grange, Paul McNish is to be present for an address. The program is to be preceded by a covered dish supper at 7 P. M. The Home Economics Committee was named to make necessary arrangements for the supper. Families are asked to bring their own table service.

DR. HUNT MUST REALLY DELIVER THE RESULTS

The psychic analyst at the Hotel Cherry, Dr. Otis Hunt, lets the medical doctors, lawyers and preachers dabble at effects and soothe bothersome symptoms and keep guessing and fussing among themselves all they want to do, but he is a metaphysical mental marvel who finds the cause of body, mind and spirit ailments.

He doesn't put labels on you, but he makes a diagram chart and writes it down for you individually and actually gives you a check up that shows you what to do to be saved from worry, waste and wear-out.

Dr. Hunt often doctors doctors, he teaches teachers, and advises lawyers, and is consulted by priests, preachers and rabbis.

His hours are from one to 10 P. M. If he reads your character you must get an appointment. He will be here today, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

He practices the golden rule and the fee is up to you. It is, really.
